Today the concept of Justice has acquired a new meaning that socio-economic justice. In other words justice not only to the fortunate few but to everyone, including poor and weaker sections of the society. Laws aim at socio-economic justice but while administering the same motto is not followed. This is not rule of Law. Rule of Law means that the benefits of the Law should be reach the millions. our your Poor countrymen. Democracy has meaning only when justice is available to everyone irrespective of their caste, creed, race, community, religion etc. Political democracy has no meaning unless there is socio economic democracy. Freedom is not only for the few but it must be for all. In order to bring socio economic equality, the present system of administration of justice must be changed. The majority of people are not aware of these socio economic legislations. To bring the legal awareness to these people, various media like print media and electronic media etc shall be used to make them etc shall be used to so as to make them aware of their rights. (10)
